AIIM is the world's largest educational conference and exposition dedicated to content and information management products and solutions. Records Managers and IT buying teams attend each year to learn how to capture, store, manage, find, share, compile and analyze information.

This year at AIIM, BancTec Vice President of Portfolio Management and Software Development, Neil Snowdon, will deliver a presentation on how companies must expand their digital horizons beyond basic capture and workflow automation. Mr. Snowdon's presentation will take place on Wednesday, March 5, from 10:10 AM – 11:00 AM in room #160A of the Boston Convention & Exhibition Center.

"BancTec continues to build a solution and services platform that enables organizations to take control of their information and achieve significant efficiencies and cost savings in their document and payment processing operations," said Chuck Corbin, BancTec vice president of corporate marketing. AIIM is always an important show for us, especially for introducing new solutions that help companies with the management of their information, business processes and technology infrastructure."

At AIIM, BancTec will also demonstrate how its broader portfolio of software, hardware and services forms a robust and flexible platform that meets today's most demanding information processing and management requirements. In addition to the IntelliScan suite of high-production volume scanners, BancTec's solutions on display will cover its capabilities in accounts payable automation, mailroom automation, business process management and healthcare revenue cycle management. Of particular significance is the company's ability to tie various components of its and other vendors' solutions into fully outsourced and managed business processes.
